Dear Commander Proudfoot:

This is in response to your letter of December 18, 1984 (your reference 23/21/901).

The prevailing policy on foreign broadcasts and translations of foreign broadcasts dated through December 31, 1953, and prepared by U.S. agencies (including those originated by the Foreign Broadcast Information Service or FBIS) is that they may be declassified and released without further review when classified as RESTRICTED. Such translations marked For Official Use Only (FOUO) or unmarked may be considered unclassified from the national security standpoint and, therefore, releasable. Broadcast translations classified CONFIDENTIAL or higher, however, must be submitted for review.

I hope this statement of our policy and practices will serve to open more material in the Australian Archives without having to refer them to us. Best wishes for a fruitful new year.

Sincerely.

EDWIN A. THOMPSON

Mr. Edwin A. Thompson
Director, Records Declassification Division

Room 18-W, National Archives Building
Eighth Street & Pennsylvania Avenue, N.W.
Washington, D.C. 20408

Dear Alan:

Here are the answers to the questions you asked on 27 June concerning the guidance forwarded in our letter of 18 June:

QUESTION 1: Is paragraph 4 classified?

No, the Foreign Broadcast Information Service has agreed that this information need not be classified. Consequently, change the (C) in paragraph 4.c.9. to (U).

QUESTION 2: Are paragraphs 5c, 6, and 7 classified?

Paragraph 5c is in the same category as 4. Consequently, change the (C) in paragraph 5.c.9. to (U).

Paragraphs 6 and 7, however, should continue to remain classified CONFIDENTIAL so that the National Archives is the broker between FBIS and other interested parties to the FBIS publications.

QUESTION 3: The 1977 FBIS guidelines mentioned that all material marked "RESTRICTED" could be released. Does that guidance still hold?

Yes.

QUESTION 4: Would we object to your writing a guideline for R.D.D. personnel consolidating the 1977 and 18 June 1984 paper into a single guideline?

No objection. However, on comparing both papers I believe you'll find much of the 1977 paper already consolidated into the 1984 paper. The difficulties about declassifying paragraphs 6 and 7 might make it difficult to draw up an unclassified compilation and we would appreciate your coordination of the draft with us.

Mr. Edwin A. Thompson Director, Records Declassification Division National Archives and Records Service Room 18-W, National Archives Building Eighth Street & Pennsylvania Avenue, N.W. Washington, D.C. 20408

Dear Mr. Thompson:

We have reviewed previously issued NARS guidelines for CIA and predecessor organization records to ensure that they are consistent with our recently issued "Guidelines for Identifying and Handling CIA Information During Declassification Review of Records from the Period 1946-54." Our recommendation for each of the previously issued guidelines is as follows:

- 1. CIA predecessor records and information, 1941-46; NND memo, June 18, 1979--No change; guidelines are still valid.
- 2. Intelligence Method-Secret Writing; NN memo, June 21, 1973--No change; guidelines are still valid.
- 3. Downgrading of WWII (OSS) Top Secret records in NARS; N memo, June 21, 1979--No change; guidelines are still valid.
- 4. The following FBIS publications have been declassified for the periods indicated:
 - a. Trends and Highlights of Peking Broadcast, 1 October 1952 18 June 1958;
 - b. Trends and Highlights of Communist Bloc Broadcasts, 25 June 1958 29 March 1967;

MEMORANDUM FOR:	Director, Foreign Broadcast Information Service
FROM:	Director of Information Services, DA
SUBJECT:	Declassification Review Guidelines for FBIS Material

- 1. The Director of the Records Declassification Division of the National Archives and Records Service (NARS) has requested an updated version of the FBIS/FDD guidelines. Such a guideline was last issued by your office in 1977 and covered FBIS/FDD reports, 1946-1950. A copy is attached for your convenience. These guidelines are used by NARS to treat classified FBIS material which they encounter among the records of other U.S. Government agencies.
- 2. Please review these guidelines to determine whether they remain current and should be updated, replaced by new guidelines, or should be cancelled altogether. For your background use, I am also attaching a copy of the Agency guideline that was sent to NARS in February 1983. As you will see, based on the general Agency guidance, NARS can be asked to hold all CIA information and documents for classification review by CIA personnel. If that is necessary, then CIA must provide reviewers. This is currently done by the Classification Review Division; they will continue to do so, but may ask you for some internal use only guidance. However, if there are categories of FBIS material which could be handled accurately and securely by cleared NARS personnel acting within your written guidelines, it would be the most efficient way of handling that particular material. Therefore, I am requesting your assistance in this matter.

Special guidelines for declassification review of CIA predecessor records and information dated between 1941 and 1946.

TO: NNDA, NNDG

- 1. Attached is a copy of the "Guidelines for Classification Review of CIA Predecessor Records and Information Between 1941-1946" dated December 11, 1978, issued by Gale Allen, Chief of the Classification Review Group, CIA. In providing these guidelines we were requested to implement their use in the same manner as we had the special guidelines issued in 1975. Consequently they will be used exclusively by those NARS personnel who have satisfactorily completed special on-the-job training under the direct supervision of a CIA specialist and demonstrated to him a satisfactory level of understanding and proficiency in their application. Their work will continue to be subject to CIA spot-checking. NND Branch Chiefs will consult with the appropriate CIA officials before delegating this authority to any member of their staff. The names of all staff members so authorized will be forwarded to the Division Director by Branch Chiefs who will be responsible for maintaining an adequate pool of authorized personnel in their unit and informing NND of any additional requirements or changes.
- 2. The declassification stamp marking to be applied by these authorized NARS staff members to individual documents which are declassified under these guidelines should appear as follows:

DECLASSIFIED
E.O. 12065, Sec. 3-402
CIA special guidelines, December 11, 1978
By______NARS, Date

- 3. NARS staff members reviewing information originated by the Coordinator of Information (COI) or the Office of Strategic Services (OSS), or the Strategic Services Unit (SSU) which cannot be declassified under the provisions of the Central Intelligence Agency Systematic Review Guidelines dated June 5, 1979 (promulgated in NARS on June 14, 1979), will refer the document to those NARS staff members expecially authorized to apply these guidelines. Requests arising outside of NND will be forwarded to the appropriate Branch Chief for assignment.
- 4. NARS general and specific restrictions will continue to be applied to the accessioned records of these CIA predecessor agencies as in the past. The donor restrictions imposed on donated historical materials will be applied prior to release.

GUIDELINES FOR CLASSIFICATION REVIEW OF CIA PREDECESSOR RECORDS AND INFORMATION BETWEEN 1941-1946

These guidelines are for use in reviewing the classification of permanent records of the Coordinator of Information (COI), (in existence from July 1941 to June 1942); the Office of Strategic Services (OSS), (June 1942 to September 1945); and the Strategic Services Unit (SSU), (October 1945 to October 1946) for which the Director of the CIA has responsibility. Executive Order 12065 requires that classified information constituting permanently valuable records of the government, as defined by 44 U.S.C. 2103, shall be reviewed for declassification as it becomes twenty years old or thirty years in the case of foreign government information. The Order further requires that guidelines for systematic review for declassification shall be issued and state specific limited categories of information which, because of their national security sensitivity, should not be declassified automatically but should be reviewed item-by-item to determine whether continued protection is needed.

A document can only be exempted from declassification if information contained therein is exempt by statute from declassification or meets a two-step test:

- 1. It concerns one or more of the classification requirements set forth in Section 1-301 of Order:
 - military plans, weapons, or operations;

(b) foreign government information; (a)

(c) intelligence activities, sources or methods;

- (d) foreign relations or foreign activities of the United States;
- (e) scientific, technological, or economic matters relating to the national security;

(f) United States Government programs for safeguarding nuclear materials or facilities; or

- (g) other categories of information which are related to national security and which require protection against unauthorized disclosure as determined by the President, by a person designated by the President pursuant to Section 1-201, or by an agency head; and
- 2. Its unauthorized disclosure could reasonably be expected to cause at least identifiable damage to the national security because of the nature or substance of the information itself or the fact of its possession by the United States Government.

Decisions to exempt a document from declassification must balance the need to safeguard U.S. national security interests against the public's right to know. If classified information or documents from other U.S. Government agencies are found among these records, they will be reviewed under the originating agency's classification review guidelines or be referred to the originating agency for its review as appropriate.

The major concern in the review of the records of the COI, OSS and SSU is to protect sensitive intelligence sources and methods. The Director of the CIA has statutory responsibility to protect intelligence sources and methods.

An intelligence source is a person, organization, group, technical system, mechanism, device or any other means or instrument that has provided or is being developed to provide foreign intelligence or foreign counterintelligence and which, if its identity or capability is disclosed, could be vulnerable to counteraction which may nullify or significantly reduce its effectiveness in providing foreign intelligence or foreign counterintelligence to the United States. The premature disclosure of the identities of sources who cooperated in confidence will undoubtedly have an adverse impact on an intelligence agency's ability to obtain new sources out of the fear of ultimate compromise. Ideally, source identities should never be disclosed but at a minimum they should not be revealed for at least 75 years to afford a basic level of protection to the sources and their immediate families.

A present, past or prospective intelligence method is a procedure, mode, technique, or requirement used or being developed to acquire, transmit, analyze, evaluate, or process foreign intelligence or foreign counterintelligence or which supports an intelligence source or operation and if disclosed, is vulnerable to counteraction that could nullify or significantly reduce its effectiveness in supporting the foreign intelligence or foreign counterintelligence activities of the United States, or could reasonably lead to the disclosure of an intelligence source or operation.

Operational intelligence activities of the COI, OSS, or SSU are not of themselves exempt from declassification, except to the extent that disclosure would expose sensitive intelligence sources or methods currently in use or proposed for use, or do damage to the current or future foreign intelligence or diplomatic interests of the United States.

All classified documents and other materials originated by COI, OSS, or the SSU, or for which they had responsibility, may be declassified except those which, after review under these general guidelines, contain information judged to be still sensitive and which, if declassified, reasonably could be expected to:

SUBJECT: Intelligence method - secret writing

NND, NNF, NNG, NNM

A recent exchange of correspondence between NARS and the CIA has delineated one category of intelligence methodology, "Secret writing," which will require continued security protection (copies of the correspondence are attached). OEP has concurred. Numerous documents concerning secret writing have been found in RG 216, Records of the Office of Censorship. A few documents on the same subject have been found in RG 226, Records of the Office of Strategic Services. We have reason to believe that documents containing information on secret writing may be found in other record groups, most particularly in intelligence files. The procedure for handling secret writing documents of the type described in the letter of May 31, 1973 (E. A. Thompson to is as follows:

- 1. Documents marked as Top Secret may be downgraded to Secret (per letter from Lawrence R. Houston, General Counsel, CIA, to James B. Rhoads, 16 April 1973).
- 2. Documents marked as Secret or Confidential relating to the secret writing types outlined in the May 31, 1973 letter will remain at that security protection level. Similar documents marked Restricted will be handled as "Confidential" pending review.
- 3. All documents containing information on secret writing which under this guideline may require continued protection must be reviewed by OSS reviewers or specialists of the CIA. Priority in submitting such documents for review should be given to those pre-dating January 1, 1946.
- 4. NARS general and specific restrictions will continue to be applied to such documents irrespective of the classification, downgrading or declassification action of the OSS or CIA representatives.
- 5. Questions should be referred to Edwin A. Thompson, extension 13-36323.

Mr. Edwin A. Thompson
Director, Records Declassification Division
National Archives and Records Service
Eighth Street and Pennsylvania Avenue, N.W.
Washington, D. C. 20408

Dear Al:

The competent authorities within the Agency have reviewed the guidelines for the declassification of documents dealing with the subject of secret writing, transmitted to this office by your letter of 31 May 1973. They concur. With respect to those methods which require continued protection, inasmuch as their future sensitivity is dependent upon the unpredictable advance of technology, it is impossible to determine a date for automatic declassification.

Subject to the concurrence of the Office of Emergency Preparedness, the successor agency to the Office of Censorship, I direct the Archivist of the United States to continue to protect, in the interest of national security, the secret inks and microphotography methods as specified in the guidelines. I am authorized to present the official Agency position in such matters.

Sincerely,
Special Assistant for Information Control

Downgrading of World War II Top Secret records in NARS

NC, NL, NN

1. To facilitate the NARS declassification review program, the Chairman of the Interagency Classification Review Committee, John S. D. Risenhower, in a letter dated March 29, 1973 asked heads of departments and agencies to consider authorizing the automatic downgrading from Top Secret to Secret the departmental classified records now in the Archives or transferred there at a future date. Most of the replies received referred to their agency's previous response on declassification guidelines for World War II records (generally through December 31, 1945). Two agencies, however, did authorize action not explicit in their previous instruction. Copies of these letters are attached.

JEOZ,

16 April 1973

Dr. James B. Rhoads Archivist of the United States National Archives and Records Service Washington, D. C. 20408

Dear Dr. Rhoads:

I have been asked to respond to Ambassador Eisenhower's letter of 29 March 1973, proposing that all World War II Top Secret records held by the National Archives be downgraded to Secret in order to ease the clearance problem faced by National Archives.

This Agency hereby downgrades to Secret all Top Secret World War II documents in the custody of the Archivist of the United States for which CIA is the responsible Agency. We also agree to a similar downgrading for Top Secret World War II documents which are the responsibility of other departments but are of concern to CIA. The above of course does not apply to documents or information originating with foreign governments, where the requirements of the originating government or the special circumstances of acquisition must be respected.

Sincerely.

Ambassador John S. D. Eisenhower Chairman, Interagency Classification Review Committee c/o Mr. David Young The White House Washington, D.C. 20500

Dear Ambassador Eisenhower:

This is in response to your memorandum dated March 29, 1973, on the subject of World War II Declassification.

The AEC has concluded that none of the atomic energy information generated during the World War II period, including that generated by the Manhattan Engineering District, need any longer be classified Top Secret. Accordingly, the National Archives and Record Service may consider that all documents of this nature may immediately be downgraded to Secret pending a review to determine whether or not a lower classification or declassification would be appropriate.

NND Staff Information Memo Declassification of records originated
the the Foreign Broadcast Intelligence Service (FBIS)

NNDA, NNDG

The Foreign Broadcast Intelligence Service (FBIS) was established, at the suggestion of the State Department, in February 1941 as part of the Federal Communications Commission. Known as the Foreign Broadcast Monitoring Service until July 1942, it was responsible for the recording, translating, analyzing, and reporting of foreign radio broadcasts for interested Government agencies. In performing these duties, FBIS worked closely with the Office of War Information, British Ministry of Information, and the British Broadcasting Corporation. Legislation of May 3, 1945 (59 Stat, 110) directed that the FCC end its foreign broadcast monitoring activities not later than six months after the conclusion of hostilities with Japan and in December of that year this function was turned over to the War Department. On August 5, 1946, FBIS was transferred to the newly established Central Intelligence Group as the Foreign Broadcast Information Service. The transfer became effective the following November and, when the CIG was replaced by the Central Intelligence Agency in 1947, FBIS became a part of CIA.

The following procedures have been agreed to concerning the declassification of FBIS-originated documentation:

- 1. The Federal Communications Commission has no interest in security classified documents and information originated by FBIS. Any continued security sensitivity should be identified for the agencies with a primary subject-matter interest. All other documents may be declassified insofar as the FCC is concerned.
- 2. With the exceptions cited in (4), the Central Intelligence Agency has no interest in the continued classification of FBIS documents and information originated prior to November 1, 1946 which relate to the official mission of FBIS to record, analyze, translate, and report upon open foreign broadcasts. Nor does it have any interest in protecting the names of FBIS personnel carrying out this official mission.
- 3. The Central Intelligence Agency does not consider official FBIS relations with the British Ministry of Information and the British Broadcasting Corporation to be British "intelligence" information.
- 4. The Central Intelligence Agency is, however, interested in any information pertaining to any use of FBIS personnel and facilities for other than normal monitoring of open media sources. Such information should be identified for further review by appropriate personnel of the Agency.

- 5. All documents and information originated by or clearly attributed to the Office of Strategic Services, the Strategic Services Unit of the War Department, the Central Intelligence Group, and the Central Intelligence Agency are to be identified for further review by appropriate personnel.
- 6. Documents and information pertaining to cryptography and communications intelligence should be identified for further review by the National Security Agency.
- 7. FBIS-originated documents and information may be reviewed according to the guideline issued by the Federal Communications Commission. (See NND Staff Guidance Memo of January 30, 1973.) The declassification authority granted by this guideline may be extended from January 1 to October 31, 1946 (the date of effective transfer from FCC to CIG) as far as FBIS-originated material is concerned.
- 8. Documents and information of other origins will be reviewed according to currently applicable guidelines.
- 9. NARS general and specific restriction statements will continue to be applied as in the past.

Review for declassification of Foreign Broadcast Information Service and Foreign Documents Division originated information, 1946-50

NNDA, NNDG

The Central Intelligence Agency (CIA) by letter dated August 23, 1977 to Edwin A. Thompson) issued guidelines that authorize the declassification of certain documents and information originated by or clearly attributable to the Foreign Broadcast Information Service (FBIS), the Foreign Documents Division (FDD) and their predecessors after 1945. The guidelines also specify types of classified information originated by or clearly attributable to those organizations that must be referred to the CIA for declassification determinations. A copy of the CIA letter and the "Guidelines for the Declassification Review of FBIS/FDD Reports, 1946-1950" are attached. The letter and guidelines are further interpreted as follows:

- 1. Security classified information originated by FBIS prior to 1 August 1946 will be reviewed in accordance with "NND Staff Information Memo--Declassification of records originated by the Foreign Broadcast Intelligence Service (FBIS y' dated March 23, 1976 which remains in effect. FBIS and FDD originated classified information dated after 31 July 1946 will be reviewed in accordance with the attached guidelines and/or other relevant guidelines currently in effect.
- 2. Security classified information originated by or clearly attributable to the Office of Strategic Services (OSS), the Strategic Services Unit (SSU) of the War Department, the Central Intelligence Group (CIG), and the Central Intelligence Agency and not the exclusive product of FBIS or FDD, is not declassifiable under these guidelines. Such information should be identified for further review by designated personnel of NND and/or the CIA.
- Documents and information in FBIS records concerning cryptography and communications intelligence should be identified for further review by CIA. CIA will coordinate with NSA as necessary.
- 4. The stamp marking to be applied to FBIS originated information dated after 31 July 1946 and all FDD originated information declassified in accordance with the attached CIA Guidelines, should read as follows:

Mr. Edwin A. Thompson Director, Records Declassification Division National Archives and Records Service Eighth Street and Penna. Avenue, NW Washington, D.C. 20408

Dear Alan:

The attached declassification review guidelines have been approved by the Director, Foreign Broadcast Information Service. They were prepared as a result of action initiated by the Records Review Branch and are intended to assist your staff in identifying the reports, documents, and other information originated by, or clearly attributable to, FBIS, the Foreign Documents Division and their predecessors, which may or may not be declassified without further review.

It is understood that FBIS will make a reviewer available to decide upon that material requiring further action, once a sufficient quantity is identified by your staff.

Please direct all questions concerning applicability of these guidelines to the Records Review Branch.

Sincere	ely,

MEMORANDUM FOR: Chief, Information Systems Analysis Staff

Chief, Records Review Branch/ISAS

Director, Records Declassification Division,

NARS

FROM: Director, Foreign Broadcast Information

Service

SUBJECT: Guidelines for the Declassification Review of FBIS/FDD Reports, 1946-1950

REFERENCE: NND Staff Information Memo--Declassification

of Records Originated by the Foreign

Broadcast Intelligence Service (23 Mar. 76)

I. INTRODUCTION

The following guidelines are established for the declassification review of reports originated by the Foreign Broadcast Information Service (previously known as the Foreign Broadcast Information Branch or the Foreign Broadcast Information Division) and the Foreign Documents Division (FDD). Unless otherwise stated, the effective time period for this guideline is 31 July 1946 to 31 December 1950 as far as FBIS/FBIB/FBID reports are concerned and from 1 December 1946 to 31 December 1950 as far as reports of FDD and its predecessors are concerned. (See attachment for a chronology of FBIS and FDD.)

II. FBIS

1. FBIS/FBIB/FBID translations of foreign broadcasts dated flurough may be declassified without further review when classified 3/DEC. 1953 RESTRICTED unless otherwise noted below. Such translations marked For Official Use Only (FOUO) may be considered unclassified from the national security standpoint. Broadcast translations classified CONFIDENTIAL or above will be identified for review by FBIS representatives.

- 2. The following FBIS publications have been declassified for the periods indicated:
 - a. Survey of USSR Broadcasts, 22 April 1947 19 June 1958.
 - b. Survey of Far East Broadcasts, 12 October 1950 26 June 1958.
 - c. Trends and Highlights of Moscow Broadcasts, 5 October 1950 18 June 1953.
- 3. Other titles in this media analysis series are to be identified for further review by FBIS representatives.
- 4. The following specific FBIS report series are to be identified for further review by FBIS representatives, regardless of date:
 - a. FBIS Special Reports, 1946-1950 (Confidential).
 - b. FBIS Far East Information Abstracts, 1949-1950 (Confidential).
 - c. Ad Hoc FBIS Reports, 1950 (Secret).
 - d. FBID, USSR and Satellite Abstracts (economic and industrial information, 1949-1950, classified Confidential).
 - e. FBID Facts and Figures, 1948 (Confidential).

III. FDD

- 1. FDD publications based on translations of open sources (newspapers, journals, monographs, books, etc.) which are classified RESTRICTED or above are to be identified for further review by FDD representatives, regardless of date.
 - These report categories include:
 - a. CIG Documents Branch Summaries, 1946-1947.
 - b. FDD Periodical Abstracts, 1947-1950 (Secret).
 - c. FDD Summary Special, 1950 (Secret).

- d. FDD Press Extracts, 1947-1948 (Secret).
- e. FDD Washington Document Center Information Series. 1946 (Confidential).
- f. FDD Washington Document Center Publications, 1946-1947 (Restricted).
- g. FDD Washington Document Center Report, 1946-1947 (Secret).
- h. FDD Washington Document Center Summary, 1946 (Secret).
 - i. FDD Translation Specials, 1950 (Secret).
- j. FDD Title Cards (WDC Translations and Summaries, 1946-1950, Secret).
 - k. FDD Summaries, 1946-1950 (Secret).
- 3. The following categories of reports issued by FDD are to be identified for review by FDD representatives, regardless of date, because they are based upon not only FDD-initiated translations of open sources but also covert sources and classified submissions for translations by other CIA components, non-CIA governmental components, and foreign government agencies:

- d. Consolidated Translation Survey, 1946-1950 (Secret);
 - e. FDD/CTS Supplement, 1950 (Secret);
- f. FDD Consolidated Translation Survey, 1949-1950 (Confidential).

IV. CONCLUSIONS

- 1. All documents and information originated by or clearly attributable to the FBIS (including FBIB and FBID) and the FDD not otherwise described in the preceding guidelines are to be identified for further review by representatives of FBIS and FDD.
- 2. Upon request, FBIS and FDD will make staff officers available for the examination of material requiring further review.
- 3. Citations, extracts, and quotations of FBIS and FDD material not automatically declassified under this guideline, which appear in the records of other organizations, are to be identified for further review by FBIS and/or FDD representatives.

SUBJECT: NND Staff Information Memo-OSS #2

Declassification review of the serially-numbered reports issued by the Research and Analysis Branch of the Coordinator of Information/Office of Strategic Services.

TO: NNDA, NNDW

DATE: April 23, 1974

- 1. During World War II the Research and Analysis Branch of the Coordinator of Information/Office of Strategic Services issued more than 3,000 serially-mumbered reports on a wide variety of political, economic, and other subjects. Because the functions and personnel of the Research and Analysis Branch were transferred to the Department of State on the dissolution of OSS at the end of the war, the Department of State became the appropriate agency to determine when the reports might be declassified. Of the total number of reports, 600 were declassified in 1950, and authority to declassify the remaining 2,400 was contained in a memorandum from William M. Franklin of the Department of State to Edwin A. Thompson on May 26, 1971.
- 2. Serially-numbered reports issued by the Research and Analysis Branch may be identified by the following elements on the title page:
 - (a) The name of the issuing office which was the Research and Analysis Branch, initially, of the Coordinator of Information or, subsequently, of the Office of Strategic Services;
 - (b) A number consisting of one to four digits and, occasionally, one or more further digits to the right of a decimal point;
 - (c) The designation "R & A No." preceding the number;
 - (d) The title of the report;
 - (e) The date of the report, not earlier than July 11, 1941 and not later than December 31, 1945.
- 3. The Coordinator of Information, the Office of Strategic Services, and the overseas outposts of the Research and Analysis Branch produced other kinds of serially-numbered documents which should not be confused with R & A reports. The latter were produced only in Washington, D.C., by the Research and Analysis Branch of COI or OSS.
- 4. Reviewers, on finding numbered R & A reports, may consider them declassified and may cite the latest State Department guideline as the appropriate declassification authority, i.e. the letter of August 9, 1973. Reviewers should not tab, list, or withdraw such documents for review by

The purpose of this memorandum is to provide NARS reviewers additional instructions that will enable them to proceed efficiently from identifying "unevaluated intelligence" documents attributable to the CIA to making the appropriate determination regarding the requirement either for immediate review by CIA declassification review specialists or for setting a future date for re-review.

b. CONFIDENTIAL NND Staff Information Memo - CIA #3, "Keywords, Titles and other designators of Information having a CIA interest. issued by NND. December 15, 1980.

Both of these guidelines were distributed to all archivists in NND. The instruction to keep their circulation, distribution and dissemination to an absolute minimum consistent with operational efficiency remains in effect. All staff members reviewing post-1945 documents

CENTRAL INTELLIGENCE AGENCY

WASHINGTON, D.C. 20505

8 June 1973

Mr. Edwin A. Thompson
Director, Records Declassification Division
National Archives and Records Service
Eighth Street and Pennsylvania Avenue, N.W.
Washington, D. C. 20408

Dear Al:

The competent authorities within the Agency have reviewed the guidelines for the declassification of documents dealing with the subject of secret writing, transmitted to this office by your letter of 31 May 1973. They concur. With respect to those methods which require continued protection, inasmuch as their future sensitivity is dependent upon the unpredictable advance of technology, it is impossible to determine a date for automatic declassification.

Subject to the concurrence of the Office of Emergency Preparedness, the successor agency to the Office of Censorship, I direct the Archivist of the United States to continue to protect, in the interest of national security, the secret inks and microphotography methods as specified in the guidelines. I am authorized to present the official Agency position in such matters.

	Sincerely,
Snaa
